CLOSE CALL OF A YOUNG FELLOW

Hay Wagon Lodged on Track With Connersville Dispatch Fast Approaching.

BOY RAN DOWN THE TRACK

Waving Red Bandana He Stopped the Car Just in the Nick of Time.

The Connersville Examiner has the following account of the thrilling experience of a young lad with a load of hay stalled on the I. & C. tracks and the Connersville Dispatch fast bearing down on him:

"Passengers on the west-bound Connersville Dispatch had a close call from getting into a load of hay Monday morning. The car had left Rushville and was under full speed, probably going sixty miles an hour, when the occupants of the car felt the shock that comes from the sudden application of the brakes.

"The car was stopped and the nature of the trouble developed. A young lad driving a team hitched to a big load of hay had attempted to cross the tracks when the wheels of the wagon encountered a hole near the rails and the horses were unable to pull the load over. The lad heard the sound of the whistle of the approaching car and whipped and shouted frantically to his team, but all of his urging was of no avail. Finally the lad thought something had to be done pretty quickly as the motorman on the approaching car could not see the trouble owing to a curve in the track. The lad jumped off the wagon and running down the track waved his bandana handkerchief in the motorman's face and the car was stopped.

"It was necessary to unhitch the team and remove the tongue from the wagon before the car could get by."

COMES HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

Mrs. Maud Hudelson of New Castle, who has assisted in the high school the greater part of this school year, has resigned her position on account of ill health. Mrs. Hudelson will be succeeded by Miss Florence R. Wagner of Delaware, Ohio. She is a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and comes here highly recommended as a teacher, having had experience in other high schools.

The program is being followed by many railroads in the northern states.

EFFECTIVE WAS HUFFER'S SERMON

Declared That Sin, if Left Alone
Would Multiply and Increase in the World.

THE INTEREST IS INCREASING

The meetings at the Presbyterian church are progressing nicely. The attendance has been very large and the services are highly appreciated. The music is very pleasing and has a wonderful influence over the audience. Mr. Ramsay is continually demonstrating his ability as a chorister and as a soloist.

Rev. Wilbur Huffer of Liberty preached a very quiet, yet effective and searching sermon last night on the "Ravages of Sin." He showed that sin in all its forms, throughout all the ages has had but one cry to give to Christianity viz.: "Let it alone." Sin, when left alone increases and numbers its victims by the thousands. Christ came to earth to destroy sin and He is today working through the church and Christian people to destroy sin.

HYPNOTISM IS NOT RELIGION

Yeuell Says Christ Must Come Into the Heart—He Notes Many Ridiculous Things.

DONE IN NAME OF RELIGION

Bible Reading, Preceding Nightly
Sermons Are Proving a Most Interesting Feature.

One of the most interesting features of the big Yeuell meetings at the Main Street Christian church is the Bible readings conducted nightly by the evangelist just before the sermon. Last night the chapter studied was the second of the Acts of Apostles. Everybody is requested to bring a New Testament and follow the chapter as read. Yeuell has been called a second Campbell-Morgan as an expositor of the Word of God. The study last night was the baptism of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost, which Mr. Yeuell showed by various readings of the New Testament occurred only twice, first at the opening of the Kingdom to Jews, and again to Gentiles at the house of Cornelius as recorded in Acts 10 and was accompanied by miraculous gifts of tongues. God doesn't convert men by sending the "Holy Ghost and fire" from heaven, but expects them to use their intellects in understanding the Word of God which brings conviction in the heart and self surrender to the will of Christ.

The big audience roared with laughter as the evangelist described some of the ridiculous things some people do in the name of religion when under subjective hypnotic influence.

Hypnotism isn't religion; Christ must come into the heart to reign over the affections. Yeuell in his sermon on "A Sure Thing" rung into the hearts of his hearers the words of the great Hebrew prophet, "Be sure your sins will find you out." The story of Eugene Aram immortalized by Tom Hood was told with thrilling effect as he tried to hide the murder of Clark, but at last when prosperity, honor and affluence had come to him his sin "found him out" when the awful crime came to light and he was sent to the gallows. The example of Judas, his conscience seared with constant avariciousness until at last he sold his master for the price of a slave and then in agony committed suicide, was described with powerful effect. Men and women were appealed to quit sinning before the ruin in its track overcame them in death and judgment.

Ellsworth Rogers' solo on "Sowing and Reaping" last night was very fine and the congregational singing was tremendously enthusiastic.

The Big Meeting for Women only Sunday afternoon is awakening great interest and delegations will likely come in from surrounding towns.

Tonight Evangelist Yeuell speaks on "The Lost Chord."

COUNTY OPTION FIGHT ON

Legal Battle Grows in Intensity and is a Warm and Spectacular
One.

We are at least having the most interesting and spectacular county option fight of any county in the State. First came the circulation of petitions and while a good, large number of voters of Rush county signed them, still some of the representative men declined to put their names on the petitions, saying they believed the people of Indiana repudiated the issue at the last election when they voted for men who were party bound to repeal the law. Then came the delay in the auditor's office. Auditor Stone wanted to make sure of his ground before he proceeded to issue a call for a special session of the county council. Next was the filing of the petitions in the county commissioners' court and the taking of the case into the circuit court, where attorneys for the wets asked that an injunction be issued against the commissioners ordering an election. The wets' attorneys declared that the law was unconstitutional and further alleged that there were not enough valid names on the petitions. Judge Sparks venue the case into the Henry county court. There attorneys for the wets appeared and asked for a change of judge. Three names were selected and two struck out, respectively by the opposing lawyers in the case, and the third remaining name being Judge W. O. Barnard, congressman-elect of the Sixth district. The injunction proceedings will be heard tomorrow afternoon at one-thirty o'clock.

The rumor last evening that attorneys for the County Option League were contemplating filing perjury charges against William Offutt, caused a mild sensation. It was alleged that Offutt made statements which he was not in a position to know to be true, in the matter of declaring that not enough valid names were on the petitions.

Equally as sensational are the counter charges which the attorneys for the wets will probably make. Several business men have declared that they understood their names appear on the petitions and they claim they never put them there. Some of them say they will push the matter if they find that their names have been used without their knowledge and permission, and file forgery charges against the guilty parties. It is further alleged by the wets that they have sufficient evidence to prove that a petition was circulated in a district school and signed by a number of school children. There are several chapters yet to be written—and all the while they are fighting night and day at Indianapolis for a repeal of the bill.

MIRACULOUS WAS RARE OPERATION

Child Had Ceased Breathing When Surgeon and Physician Started to Work.

HOPE NOW FOR A RECOVERY

Almost incredible is the story of an operation performed at Mays on Wednesday of this week. The seventeen-months-old baby—a twin girl—of Cyrus Bowlin suffered from a peculiar affliction and when the physicians and surgeons called to make a diagnosis and operation, the child was found in a critical condition. The air passages of the little one were stopped and for quite a period before the operation was made, the child did not breathe. Dr. J. C. Sexton of this city, assisted by Drs. Frank Green, J. L. Lord and Joseph Bowen, performed the delicate and unprecedented operation. An incision was quickly made in the little one's throat when it quit breathing, and the case seemed to be a hopeless one, and a silver tube was inserted in the incision made below the adam's apple. In this condition the babe revived when a further operation was made and hopes of a complete recovery are now entertained by the attending physician. It is considered by the medical fraternity as little short of miraculous.

'Twas Written BY A MERE MAN

The Battle Hymn of the Suffragists Is Out.

"GLORY, GLORY, HALLELUJAH"

Chicago Man of the Name of Block Got the Prize for the Best Poem Embodying Woman's Yearning Cry For the Right of Suffrage—It Goes to the Tune of "John Brown's Body" and Is to Be Scattered Broadcast as the Battle Hymn of the American Suffragists.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—After considering more than 1,000 poems sent in from all parts of the United States, a committee of judges selected to award the $100 prize offered by Mrs. L. B. Bishop of Chicago for the best poem supporting woman's suffrage, has reached a decision. The committee selected a poem of five stanzas, entitled, "The Marching Song," which is to be sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body." It was written by a man—Louis J. Block, principal of a Chicago high school. The first reference to women in the poem is in the third stanza, which follows:

"Mother, prophetess, and holy, through the ages of the clan,
Uttering words of potent wisdom in the ear of struggling man,
Woman rose and strode beside him,
Mid the dangers of the van,
Kindling hope that led him on."

The last stanza follows:

"Forth they step and march together,
Forth the man and woman go,
To the plains of vast achievement
Where unfettered rivers flow,
And their work shall stand exalted,
And their eyes shall shine and glow
With the hope that led them on."
The chorus is:

"Glory, glory, glory, hallelujah; glory, glory, hallelujah."

Glory, glory, glory, hallelujah, for the hope still leads them on."
It is announced that the suffragists will have the poem or song published and sent broadcast over the land.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS

Teller Upholds Senate's Right to Catechise the President.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator Teller of Colorado addressed the senate in support of Senator Bacon's resolution declaring that the senate has a right to any information in possession of the executive departments and cited various precedents to sustain his conclusion. He claimed that only in exceptional cases is the president warranted in withholding information and declared that congress had never failed to respect such action on the part of the executive when it had been based on considerations of public interest.

The senate remained in executive session during most of the day considering the nomination of Dr. W. D. Crum to be collector of customs at Charleston, S. C. The house passed the senate pension bill for federal judges and continued discussion of the agricultural bill.

INDIANA POLITICS

By Robert G. Tucker.

Indianapolis, Feb. 4.—What some of the prominent Democrats say is the real Democratic platform bill for the repeal of the county local option law is the one introduced by Representative Madigan of Fountain county. It provides simply for the enactment of a township and ward local option law, without altering the county option law enacted at the special session. Eleven Democrats, at least, will support this bill, and it is believed that others will join them. The eleven are: Christy, Clore, Coahran, Gottschalk, Hostetter, Madigan, Malsh, Merriman, Sicks, Murphy and Durham. The anti-repealers are prepared to make a fight for the Madigan bill. The Democratic state platform, they say, was adopted at a time when there was no thought of a special session of the legislature for the enactment of a county local option law and therefore it could not have contemplated the repeal of such a law. They contend that the platform declaration for township and ward local option does not bind the party to a repeal of the county option law. The declaration for township and ward option, they say, was meant as an advance step in temperance legislation and not a backward step, such as a repeal of the county option law would be.

The case of the state against the late A. C. Daily, ex-state auditor, to recover $25,430 he is alleged to have collected and held illegally, was decided in favor of the defendant on an appeal from the Boone county circuit court. S. R. Artman, judge of the Boone court at the time the case was heard, decided that Daily owed the state $25,430. The amount was said to have been taken as fees for collection of insurance taxes. Daily, who was one of the most highly respected men in Indiana, died shortly after Judge Artman rendered his decision. Governor Hanly brought Daily and J. O. Henderson, another ex-auditor, into the limelight during the early part of his administration. His experts reported that Daily and Henderson received a large sum in fees under the fee system that was abolished during Daily's term. The governor then caused suits to be brought against both of them. Henderson was sued for over $120,000 and the case against him is pending in the lower court. Governor Hanly made an issue of the matter in the campaign in 1906. The supreme court's decision was similar to the one given in the case of ex-auditor Dave Sherrick, who was released from state prison on the ground that the money he was charged with using was paid to him improperly by the insurance companies. Judge J. V. Hadley, who handed down the present opinion, held that the complaint against Daily was insufficient in that it did not state, as a fact, that the money retained by Daily had been received by him as state auditor and that it was his duty to turn it over to the state treasurer. Judge Hadley pointed out that it is not the duty of the auditor to accept or collect money on behalf of the state, except as authorized, and that the statutes are plain in providing that the insurance taxes shall be paid to the treasurer. The court suggested, therefore, that the money Daily is said to have retained may not have belonged to the state and that the latter was not in position to sue for it. It is believed that the same decision will apply in the Henderson case.

BY THE WAYSIDE

The trait of forgetfulness is usually attributed to professors and the following story is, consequently, laid at their door. One of the professors in the local schools, we are reliably informed, overslept himself a few mornings ago. Rushing down stairs he performed his ablutions and reached for the mirror to see if his toilet was properly arranged. Unwittingly he grasped the hair brush and peered into the bristled depths. "My goodness," he remarked to himself; "I just shaved yesterday and now I will have to do it again today." It was some minutes later that his senses collected and he learned that he had looked into the comb, thinking it was a mirror.

Jap Girls Celebrate

Tokio, Feb. 3.—Every little slant-eyed celestial of feminine persuasion in the empire of the Mikado is celebrating here birthday today, in accordance with the honorable Japanese custom which regulates such affairs. It is not that the Nippon stork has the strange habit of bringing all girl babies on the same day of the year. The universal birthday is just a pleasant fiction of the papas and mammas of Japan, and one which is religiously observed. Every little girl in Japan has a doll today, and some of them are wonderful creations which have been handed down from mother to daughter for many generations. The boys of Nippon also have a general birthday, but this does not come until the first of May, and is celebrated with much more eclat than the day set apart for the girls.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

CAME OUT OF MILTON.

(Connerville Courier.)

The little city of Milton has in its confines a young man, Harry Manlove, who has here-to-fore been in the shadows of publicity, but recently he was picked up by the Lyceum Bureau and informed that his abilities as an impersonator of character and a reader will win him success, and he has been employed by the Indianapolis Lyceum Bureau to fill the unexpired time of Mr. Russell, recently deceased.

Mr. Manlove gave an entertainment at Redkey, Indiana, last Friday night under the auspices of the Redkey lecture course, and his impersonations and readings attracted the attention of a member of the Indianapolis bureau who was in the audience. This man made the fact known to the bureau officials and negotiations were immediately commenced to persuade Mr. Manlove to engage with them.

RAILWAY CLAIMS MOST VICTIMS

Twenty-One Coroner's Inquests Held in This County Last Year.

SEVEN VICTIMS OF RAILROAD

Eight Deaths From Natural Causes, One Suicide, One Homicide, Three From Other Causes.

During the past year which ended Jan. 1, 1909 there have been 21 coroner's inquests in this county. Out this number eight deaths have resulted from natural causes in which it was necessary to hold a coroner's inquest. There were seven killed on steam railway, one on interurban railway, one homicide, one suicide, and three resulting from other accidents.

The steam railway claims the largest number of victims. Out of the seven killed, four of the accidents occurred in Ripley township, two in Rushville township, and one in Anderson township. The recent wreck on the Big Four railroad at Carthage when R. C. Anson, William Remley, and Charles Fist, were killed, swelled the list considerably. Charles Kennedy the rural mail carrier who was killed by a Big Four train at Carthage was the fourth accident which happened in Ripley township. Columbus Ritchie was killed by a Big Four train near Milroy last August which was the only fatal accident in Anderson township. Two accidents have occurred in this township within the last year which were indeed pathetic. One young life was crushed out beneath the wheel of a C. H. & D. train and a prominent physician was killed instantly while attempting to cross the C. H. & D. railroad in North Main street in his automobile. John Uhlman was killed by a traction car near the Jersey Isle stock farm last June.

Miss Nellie Bowlin who, growing despondent over a love affair, took her own life by drinking carbolic acid, and was the only suicide in the county during the last year. The one murder recalls the terrible assault upon Charles Coleman on the east pike and the two long trials in the circuit court, after which Leslie Bundrant was given a life sentence in the State prison and Mrs. Lelar Coleman was freed from the charge of murder.

The other three accidents which resulted fatally occurred in Richland, Anderson, and Washington townships. John Scott was accidentally shot by his uncle while hunting on a farm near Andersonville, last November. James M. Smith filling a gravel pit pond near Milroy one night last July and when discovered was dead. Miss Lydia Coons took an overdose of morphine at her home in Falmouth early last spring and died in a short time as a result.

CELEBRATE WITH A VARIED PROGRAM

Grade Pupils Commemorate Centenary of Mendelssohn and Chopin Yesterday.

DIRECTION OF MISS OVERMAN

A delightful program was rendered in room 8A yesterday afternoon at the Graham school building under the direction of Miss Anna Overman, instructor of music in the city schools, commemorating the centenary of Mendelssohn (Feb. 3, 1908) and Chopin (Feb. 8, 1909). The choruses were sung by the girls of the seventh and eighth grades of the Graham school and well did they perform their part. The biographies were well written and were of interest to all of the pupils as they have been studying about these masters of music. The musical selections were well rendered and were in every instance written by the two composers whose centenary was being celebrated. A number of visitors were in attendance.

BRICK PAVEMENT DEAL IS BLOCKED

Special Judge Broadbudd Decides That Streets Cannot be Built Under the law.

NO VIEWERS WERE APPOINTED

L. L. Broadbudd, as special judge, presided in an interesting case at Rushville Monday, says the Connerville News, concerning the decision of Judge Broadbudd in the Three-Mile-Road law case here.

The citizens of that city had undertaken to build a brick street or streets under the much talked of three-mile-road law. Interested parties took exceptions and the matter has got into court. Mr. Broadbudd was called to hear the case and decided that brick streets can not be built under the three-mile law. Moreover, those wanting to take advantage of the law had not proceeded under its provisions, having failed to appoint viewers who should estimate the probable cost of the improvement. But had they done so, it is understood that their action would have been held invalid.

SCHOOL NOTES

The first half of the school year will end tomorrow. The high school will assemble at 1:30 p. m. to receive their credits and to enroll in the classes for the second term which will begin Monday. The grade pupils will report in their respective rooms at 2:30 p. m. to receive their report cards, to be promoted and to receive assignments of lessons and supplies.

Mrs. Maud Hudelson, who has assisted in the high school during the greater part of the term, has resigned her position on account of health. Her resignation was accepted with reluctance and she was urged to continue her work, but she considered it best to give up the work. She will be succeeded by Miss Florence R. Wagner of Delaware, Ohio. Miss Wagner is a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan University and has had experience in high school teaching.

During the last month the school has been favored with many visits from the patrons. The visitors have been strong in their praise of the work of the teachers. We are glad at all times to have patrons and friends visit the schools. The teachers always welcome visitors and are encouraged by their presence and suggestions. The work of our teachers is deserving of praise for we have a strong and conscientious corps who are giving their best endeavors to the instruction of the pupils. We hope that the next term may enroll many more visitors and that the visits may be made early in the term and repeated.

We have a large number of students in the schools who are not satisfied with anything less than the best they can do. These pupils are to be commended for such efforts will surely bring rich rewards. We hope that all pupils will begin the new term with a determination to do their very best and seek scholarship and discipline of mind, and not be satisfied with a "passing grade."

The Grand Army Republic of this city has been invited to attend the Lincoln Day exercises at the high school, February 17. The order has accepted and the high school will entertain the soldiers with a splendid program. The exercises will begin at 2:30 p. m.

The biographies were well written and were of interest to all of the pupils as they have been studying about these masters of music. Norma Smith played her selection with artistic taste; Lorene Smith displayed superior technique in rendering selections from Mendelssohn; Ruth Aldridge played with expression the historic selection assigned her; Marjorie Smith played well on the violin the "Spring Song;" and Dorothy Thomas executed beautifully Chopin's "Funeral March."

RUSHVILLE ON AIR SHIP LINE

New York Man Proposes to Build Monster Passenger Conveyance at Early Date.

ST. LOUIS TO NEW YORK CITY

Is the First Line and Inventor Says the Trip Can be Made in Ten Hours.

The fact that Rushville is on a direct line drawn on the map from New York to St. Louis lends special local interest to the following New York dispatch:

It is announced, and with apparent confidence, that a huge leviathan of the air will be making regular trips between New York and St. Louis at an early date.

The airship, as described by E. J. Pennington, the inventor, and Lewis Nixon, a practical builder of ocean-going steamships, and who has contracted to construct this aerial vessel, is to be 1000 feet long over all and have accommodations for 1000 passengers. Steel will be the material used, hydrogen gas in numerous airtight chambers will float the ship, gas engines will propel it and electrical power will manipulate it.

Once in the air it is not expected that the ship will ever touch the earth again until worn out, but will be anchored at points of destination and passengers landed or received by extension elevators. The speed at which it can be run will exceed that of the fastest railroad trains; indeed, it is claimed that the distance from New York to St. Louis may be made in less than ten hours.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

CHAPTER XV.

CAROLINA LANGDON'S ADVICE.

"LET me speak to Mr. Haines alone," said Carolina to Norton and her brother.

Norton turned a triumphant grin at Randolph as he beckoned him out and whispered: "Leave him to her. It's all right. That New York dude has been riding for a fall—he's going to get it now."

"I am sorry, so sorry this should have occurred, Mr. Haines," Carolina said gently.

The secretary looked up slowly, his face drawn. It was an effort for him to speak.

"I can't understand it," he said. "I mightn't have thought so much of this a month ago, but I have come to love the senator almost as a son, and to think that he could be like the rest of that bunch is awful."

"You are too much of an idealist, Mr. Haines," said the girl.

"And you? What do you think of it?" he demanded.

The girl's glance wavered. "Don't idealize me too much, either, Mr. Haines. I didn't think it was much. Perhaps I don't understand business any too well."

"But you see now?" insisted the man.

The girl looked up at him sorrowfully.

"Yes; I see at least that you and father can never work together now."

Haines nodded affirmatively.

"I suppose so. I'm thinking of that. How am I to leave him? We've been so close. I've been so fond of him. I don't know how I could tell him."

In girlish, friendly fashion Carolina rested her hand on his arm.

"Won't you take my advice, Mr. Haines? Go away without seeing him. Just leave a note to say you have gone. He will understand. It will be easier for both that way—easier for him, easier for you."

She paused, looking at him appealingly as she ended very softly, "And easier for me, Mr. Haines."

He looked at her thoughtfully.

"Easier for you?" he said. "Very well, I'll do it that way."

The secretary stepped slowly to his desk, sat down and started to write the note. Carolina watched him curiously.

"Will you do," she asked, "now that you've given up this position?"

"I can always go back to newspaper work," he answered without looking up.

The term "newspaper work" gave Carolina a shock. She had forgotten that this man had been a reporter. Here he was turned loose with the knowledge of this "deal," which she knew would be popular material for newspapers to print. She must gain still another point, and she felt that she had enough power to win against him.

"I'm going to ask you still another favor," she said.

Bud returned her look with a bitter smile.

"What is it?"

"You have learned about this—this land matter and—"

"Oh, yes! I can guess. You want me to keep quiet about it—to hush it up," a shade of scorn in his tone.

The girl was startled. She had not

"I only asked this so that you would not disgrace me," she pleaded.

Disillusioned at last, robbed of his lifelong optimism, shorn of his ideals, even his love—for he began to despise this beautiful, misguided woman—Haines sat broken in spirit, thinking how quickly the brightness of life fades to blackness.

"Very well," he said sadly. "I suppose you are innocent. I'll save you. If they're all your father, too—crooked, why shouldn't I be crooked? All right; I won't say anything."

"I only ask you not to disgrace me," pleaded the girl. "You will promise that?"

"It's a promise."

She sighed in relief.

"Father will be coming back soon,"

"You boys run away. I've got to think," said the senator.

When the pair had gone the old man drew the letter to him, and below his signature he added a postscript, "Don't forget there's some money coming to you."

Walking across the room to leave, he sighed:

"He was making the best kind of a secretary."

thought that things would go this far. "I told him how Haines wanted to get in some land speculation scheme with Altacoola, how we tricked him and caught him with the goods when he made the proposition to me and how we forced him to confess."

"You told father that?" gasped Carolina.

Norton nodded.

"I don't understand it," said Langdon. "To think that he was that kind!"

Son Randolph now took his turn in the case against the secretary.

"We were both here, father. I heard him—Carolina heard him," he said. "Didn't you, Carolina?"

"Yes," said the girl weakly, "I was here." Then she turned abruptly. "I must go," she said, "must go right away. Mrs. Holcomb is waiting for me."

The senator turned to his desk bent and discouraged.

"I suppose I should have taken a secretary who was a southerner and a gentleman. Well, Randolph, you'll have to act now. Take this letter!"

The young man sat down and took the following from the senator's dictation:

Mr. Haines.

Sir—I quite understand your feelings and the impossibility of your continuing in my employ. The least said about it the better. I am sorry too.

WILLIAM H. LANGDON.

"You boys run away. I've got to think," said the senator.

When the pair had gone the old man drew the letter to him, and below his signature he added a postscript, "Don't forget there's some money coming to you."

Walking across the room to leave, he sighed:

"He was making the best kind of a secretary."

GRILLS THE VIVISECTIONISTS.

Advocates of Regulating Animal Experiments Ask Operators Some Pertinent Questions.

Protesting against attempts to misrepresent the attitude of the Society for the Prevention of Abuse in Animal Experimentation, Mr. F. P. Bellamy, counsel for the society, denies that it ever proposed the prohibition of vivisection. The society stands, he says, upon precisely the platform where Herbert Spencer, the greatest of English scientists, stood when in 1895 he, with nearly 200 of the most prominent physicians in England and in this country, signed a statement in which he said:

"We believe, therefore, that the common interests of humanity and science demand that vivisection, like the study of human anatomy in the dissecting room, should be brought under the direct supervision and control of the state. The practice, whether in public or in private, should be restricted by law to certain definite objects and surrounded by every possible safeguard against license or abuse."

Mr. Bellamy insists that these questions call for a frank answer from those who oppose any such safeguards:

Queries For the Doctors.

How can legitimate scientific work by competent men be injured by a law which will limit all vivisection to competent persons?

How can legitimate scientific work be injured by a law which will compel the use of anaesthetics in all cases where the success of the experiment does not make the use of anaesthetics impracticable?

If our proposed legislation does not fully protect legitimate scientific work, why do not our opponents who criticize it accept our often repeated invitation tion and suggest which will fully protect scientific research?

Why the secrecy with which vivisection is surrounded? Has the disemboweling of living animals, in order to experiment with their vital organs, or the amputation of limbs from one animal and attaching them to another become so painless that the public has no interest to know what effort is made to save unnecessary suffering?

Or is the brutality of the whole thing so hideous or so unnecessary that the operators do not dare to let in the light of investigation upon it?

We again challenge them to open the doors of their star chamber laboratories and let the truth be known. In no other way can they quiet the public apprehension or avert the legislation of which they have such dread.

PIONEER AMERICAN LINEN MILLS BRANCHING OUT.

Huge Plant Now Planned Made Necessary by One Year's Development of New Industry.

Impressive evidence of the progress of the pioneer American Linen mills established at North Brookfield, Mass., about a year ago is found in the plans just completed for extending the plant. Beginning with limited capacity in a mill that had to be adapted by degrees to the requirements of the Oxford Linen mills, the business has grown to such an extent that plans have been drawn for half a dozen new buildings, all larger than the present main mill.

The plans call for an addition double the size of the present main mill, a new stock, storage and shipping building, weave shed, "oxolint" factory, bleach house and fiber preparing house. The two latter buildings will be in the center of a quadrangle formed by the other buildings mentioned.

All the buildings will be of reinforced concrete. The new weave shed is to be a two story building, provided with overhead lighting by means of a saw tooth roof containing 375 skylights. The power plant will be located well away from the mill building proper, all the machinery in which will be electrically operated. A stock issue of about $165,000 made in connection with the beginning of these extensions was all taken within a week, largely by original shareholders in the mills.

The Oxford mill was the first establishment in the United States to undertake the manufacture of linen products from fiber prepared by the Mudge process. This accomplishes in a few hours the work that abroad requires many weeks. Judging from the extensions to be carried out by the Oxford mills, there seems to be no further reason to question the immense success of the undertaking.

Turbine Fans For American Dreadnoughts.

For the forced draft equipment of the United States battleships Delaware and North Dakota twenty-eight turbine fans, each with a capacity of 24,000 cubic feet a minute, have been built at the Troy works of the Sirocco Engineering company.

Although only twenty-seven inches in diameter, the fourteen Sirocco turbine fans to be installed on each of the United States Dreadnoughts supply 336,000 cubic feet of air every minute to keep the fires roaring under the boilers of these monster war vessels. It is an enormous output for their small size that has led to the adoption of this type of fan on all the principal transatlantic liners, in European navies and now by the United States naval authorities. The fans are built on the same principle as a steam turbine and consist of a "squirrel cage" drum surrounded by sixty or more narrow blades.

DISCOVERS NEW FLEA.

Dr. Carroll Fox of Philadelphia Finds Six Toothed Blind Species.

To a Philadelphian, Dr. Carroll Fox, has fallen the distinction of being the discoverer of a new species of flea, and entomologists throughout the world are much interested in it, not only because of its novelty, but because the discovery is so closely allied to the fight against the bubonic plague, which was prevalent for several months in San Francisco. Dr. Fox is with the marine hospital service in that city, being sent there to investigate the ways in which the plague is transmitted.

It was finally discovered, after painstaking experiments, that fleas on the bodies of rats infected with the plague were the mediums of transmission to human beings. There followed a warfare of extermination against the rodents.

Pursuing his investigation, much of which was, of course, accomplished with a microscope, he discovered the hitherto unreported specimen of flea. He found it to be without eyes and having a row of six teeth. Instead of being black, as is the ordinary well known variety, this new insect is a light brown. It is quite as voracious as other members of the same family, but is capable of a much higher leap. Dr. Fox has not named the species, a privilege which is his as the discoverer.

"Merry Widow" Hat Skull Protector.

A "Merry Widow" hat with a flaring brim probably saved the life of Katherine Sheffield, a maid at a Philadelphia hotel. A milk bottle falling from the eighth floor of the hotel struck her "Merry Widow" hat just as the maid passed below and caromed off the wide brim, causing a slight wound on top of the girl's head. The hotel physician, Dr. Thomas, declares the big hat alone saved the girl from a broken skull.

END OF HOG CHOLERA

Missouri Agricultural College Perfects Antitoxin Serum.

GREAT SAVING TO FARMERS.

Improved Method Immunizes Swine Against Dread Disease and Prevents Wholesale Outbreaks—Will Greatly Reduce Price of Pork—Losses Turned to Profits—System of Inoculation.

As a result of perfecting a serum that is an antitoxin against hog cholera the Missouri Agricultural college at Columbia guarantees the state legislature that with an appropriation of $45,000 a year it will save the farmers of Missouri from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 annually from the ravages of this disease.

The serum was discovered by Dr. M. Dorsett of the United States department of agriculture, but it was perfected and made practical by Dr. J. W. Connaway of the Missouri Agricultural college. He has been working for months on the problem and now has the proportion exactly.

The Agricultural college announces unequivocally that it is prepared to vanquish that bane of the farmer, hog cholera. The discovery, which has been tested and proved, will mean to the animal world what antitoxin means to humans and will reduce the price of pork to a minimum.

The Agricultural college here is receiving letters from agricultural institutions and experiment stations all over the country inquiring the results obtained and asking for samples of the serum and instructions in its application.

By the improved method hogs are immunized against cholera and outbreaks of the disease are stopped with only the loss of those animals that died or became seriously affected before the identity of the disease was discovered, and thus the spread of the disease from one herd to a whole neighborhood and from a neighborhood to other sections is stopped, and the immense amount of money that is lost annually by the farmers is changed into profits.

The serum, or blood, is drawn from what is known as a hyperimmunized hog, the fibrin being removed so as to prevent clotting. The serum is treated with small quantities of carbolic acid and when kept in a cool place can be preserved from six to twelve months. When hogs are to be inoculated an assistant from the Agricultural college injects from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful into the ham of the animal.

A hyperimmunized hog is produced by first giving the cholera to a well hog and at the time injecting into him a small amount of the serum. In about ten days after he has recovered from the effects of the treatment a larger quantity of the blood from hogs suffering with cholera is injected, and this is repeated at intervals of ten days or two weeks, each time increasing the dose of infected blood until as much as a quart or a quart and a half is injected without affecting the health of the animal.

This amount of infection injected into the hog at one time is sufficient to kill five or more unimmunized animals. By this means the immunity of the subject is raised to a very high degree, and the animal is known as a hyperimmunized hog. The blood is then drawn as already described. In the absence of serum hyperimmunized hogs may be made by beginning with hogs that have recovered in the natural way from attacks of cholera. The blood being injected into a hog that is normally healthy, the same process is followed.

The blood, or serum, is drawn from the tail of a hog. The hair is shaved off the posterior part of the animal, and the surface is thoroughly disinfected after giving the subject a bath. Great care is taken against germs of blood poisoning.

An ordinary hog will produce from a quart to a quart and a half of serum at a bleeding. The bleeding can be repeated at intervals of ten days or two weeks, depending upon the thrift of the hog. The operation can be repeated until the tail of the animal is entirely gone, each bleeding taking a thin portion of the tail. When the tail by repeated bleedings is removed to the hams the hog is killed and all the serum in his body is drawn off.

Famous Minstrel to Save "Boozers."

The saving of the derelicts of Chicago's "whisky row" is the task which Billy Williams, once famous as a minstrel, has set for himself. Practically penniless, Williams walked up and down the barrel house portion of State street recently, exhorting the lodging house residents to follow his example and "cut out the booze." Williams was a star with Haverly.

"I've got $4 in my pocket, and I am doing more good with it than I ever did before in my life," said Williams before speaking at a meeting in Temperance hall.

Philanthropy Poverishes Couple.

Having devoted all of their money to the alleviation of the temporal needs of the unfortunates of the slums, to whom they minister spiritually as well as physically, Benjamin Jenkins and his wife of Philadelphia now find themselves in need and forced to ask for aid. The two have spent more than $6,000 among the poor and have even mortgaged their home in their zeal in the work. They have taken unfortunates into their home, ministering to them individually.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerves, all tissue, and all blood elements.

The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, easing nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

THE KLECKNER BILL UP TODAY

Indiana Watching Movement to Repeal Option Law.

DEMOCRATS ARE WEAKENING

Late Developments in the Canvass of Votes Favorable to a Repeal of the Hoosier Local Option Law Indicate That Such a Measure Can Get Through Only With the Aid of Republican Votes—Legislative Halls Crowded Today by Persons Interested For or Against a Proposition Which Has Attracted State-Wide Attention in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Feb. 4.—An unusually large crowd was on hand when the house convened at 10 o'clock this morning. The word had gone forth that the Kleckner bill to repeal the county local option law would come up. It is expected that the fate of the movement to put through the house a bill to substitute the ward and township unit with high license for county local option will be determined today. All of the Democratic members of the house committee on morals except Representative Hostetter presented a report favoring the passage of the Kleckner repeal bill.

Representatives Elliott, Maddox and Jay, the Republican members of the committee, introduced a minority report for indefinite postponement. Representative Hostetter, who voted against the county local option bill at the special session of the legislature, refused to sign either. He is counted, however, as an opponent of the bill.

The question today was on the adoption of the minority report. It must be postponed indefinitely or the repeal movement will have no chance of getting ahead. It was said today that Representatives Clore, Madigan, Meriman, Chrisney, Cochran, Gottschalk, Hostetter, Maish, Murphy, Durham and Sicks, Democrats, will vote for indefinite postponement. They are supporting a bill presented by Representative Madigan for the adoption of the township and ward unit, supplementary to the county local option law. They are proceeding along the line that their party did not declare for the repeal of the county unit and that to take it off the statute books would be a backward step in temperance legislation.

Democrats Are Weakening.

If the rest of the house Democrats stand together there will be forty-eight on their side for the repeal bill. It was said, however, that Representative McGinnis and two or three more Democrats are weakening and that they may vote with the radicals. As matters stand the votes of some of the Republicans will be necessary to get the bill through the house. Representatives Hewig and Schreeder, Republicans, of Evansville, will vote with the Democrats. Representative Walter Ratliff of Wayne county is for the repeal of the county local option law and is expected to vote with the Democrats. If he does the minority report against the Kleckner bill is likely to be killed.

A majority of the members of the house committee reported favorably the Tomlinson-Proctor bill for city and town local option, high license and repeal of the present law. Representative Wells's bill prohibiting the sale of "dry" beer in temperance counties was reported for postponement. The Sicks temperance bill, upon which an unfavorable report was also made, was so radical that a man would have stood small chance of acquittal if anyone testified that he detected the odor of liquor on his breath. The Anti-Saloon League wanted to strengthen the blind tiger law so that no liquor could be handled in "dry" territory.

Garnishee Bill Killed.

The senate killed the Grube bill prepared by the Retail Merchants' association of Indiana to provide for garnisheeing wages for debts. A majority of the members of the committee to which it was referred reported it favorably. The minority report for indefinite postponement was adopted after much argument. Senator Grube killed the bill himself when he said he did not favor it and that he introduced it by request. Senator Wood urged its passage on the ground that it would not hurt any honest laborer.

The Indianapolis Merchants' association bill providing for uniform system of bookkeeping in public offices was made a special order of business for Feb. 8. The Republican senators with two or three exceptions are backing the measure.

Anti-Injunction Bill.

Representative Kleckner will introduce the Federation of Labor's anti-injunction bill today. The bill provides for trial by jury of all charges of contempt, growing out of alleged violation of injunctions and before another judge than one issuing the injunction. In the defining property rights, it is specified that the right to carry on any particular business shall not be regarded as a property right. In cases tried for contempt it is provided, no action of any organization shall be made to be a criminal offense unless it would be unlawful if done by an individual.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 4.—After securing two new juries, making eleven now in the box, the trial of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John D. Sharp, was abruptly interrupted because of a lack of veniremen. A fifth venire of 500 men was ordered in court on Monday, at which time an effort will be resumed to complete the jury.

STOMACH AGONY

Abolish the Cause, and Misery and Distress of Indigestion Will Vanish.

Can indigestion be cured? Hundreds of thousands of people who suffer from belching of gas; biliousness, sour stomach, fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, nervousness and other distressing symptoms, are asking themselves that question daily.

And if these same doubting dyspeptics could only read the thousands of sincere letters from people who once suffered as badly as they do now, but who have been quickly and permanently cured by the use of Mi-o-na, the mighty dyspepsia remedy that cures by removing the cause, they would go to F. The price of Mi-o-na tablets is only 50 cents, and F. B. Johnson & Co., guarantees them to cure indigestion or money back.

Thin or lean or scrawny people will find in Mi-o-na a maker of flesh and blood, because it causes the stomach to extract more nutritious matter from the food, which quickly enriches the blood.

HASKELL'S NAME HEADS THE LIST

Oklahoma's Governor Indicted
In Town Lot Cases.

A HALF DOZEN OTHERS NAMED

In the indictments returned by the Federal Grand Jury at Muskogee in the Matter of Alleged Frauds Against the Government in Scheduling Town Lots, the Name of Governor Charles N. Haskell of Oklahoma Appears First of All—Many Clamor to Sign His Bond.

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 4.—As a result of the investigation of the grand jury of the alleged frauds in connection with the scheduling of town lots in this city, seven indictments have been returned. The charge against the defendants is conspiracy to defraud the government. The names of those indicted are: Governor Charles N. Haskell, F. B. Severs, A. Z. English, C. W. Turner, W. T. Hutchings, Jesse W. Hill and Walter R. Eaton.

Attorney Thomas H. Owen of Muskogee, representing Governor Haskell, made arrangements for the governor to enter his appearance tomorrow morning and give bond in the sum of $5,000 for appearance for trial.

The writs issued are returnable forthwith. Governor Haskell is at Guthrie, the state capital. There is but one indictment against him, charging him with conspiring with Walter R. Eaton and Clarence W. Turner to defraud the government. There are two indictments against Turner and one each against the others.

Turner was first to give bond in the sum of $10,000. Hutchings and Eaton called and gave bond in the sum of $5,000 each. All will probably be arraigned before Judge Campbell tomorrow morning. English is in Los Angeles.

Further Report Looked For.

The report of the grand jury was made to Judge Robert E. Campbell of the United States court. The jury was instructed to report for duty again Monday morning, which gave rise to the impression that only a partial report had been made in the town lot cases. Several of those who it was expected would be indicted escaped because the evidence did not show they were identified with the alleged conspiracy.

Walter R. Eaton, one of the men indicted, is a brother-in-law of Walter R. Richie of Lima, Ohio. He is the secretary of the Indianapolis Contracting company, of which Governor Haskell is president, and which it is alleged scheduled the names of many "dummies" to secure town lots. James W. Hill, another of the indicted, came here from Texas and became identified with the Muskogee Development company. It is claimed that he disposed of a large number of lots fraudulently scheduled.

Fifteen of the wealthiest men in Muskogee called at the office of the United States marshal here and signed Governor Haskell's bond for $5,000. Many more asked to be allowed to sign it, but there was no more space on the document.

Character of the Charges.

An insight is afforded into the character of the charges in the federal grand jury investigation of alleged Muskogee town lot frauds by the allegations in the so-called Mott civil suits filed in the federal court for the eastern district of Oklahoma. The bill in equity in suit No. 513, styled the United States of America for the use of the Creek Nation against C. W. Turner and John Q. Adams, administrator of the estate of Pleasant Porter, the deceased chief of the Creek Nation of Indians, and many others who were purchasers of lots involved in the townsites controversy, is a fair example of others. In addition to about one hundred alleged individual purchasers of the Chief Porter lots, there are a number of corporations named as co-defendants. Among other things charged in the bill is the allegation that the said "Turner and Porter and Charles N. Haskell and Walter R. Eaton confederated and conspired together for the purpose of securing all the lots into which the said (described) tracts had been platted at one-half their appraised value and thus evading the provisions of the Creek agreement and defrauding the Creek Nation of money which would have come to it through auction sales; that in order to carry out the conspiracy it was agreed by and between the said parties that all of said property should be scheduled and sold to persons under the control and domination of the said parties or some of them and persons nominated by them, and that an arrangement would be perfected with the parties to whom the property was to be scheduled and sold to immediately convey the same to the said Turner, Porter, Haskell or Eaton or to some person designated by them, and that the said property, profits and proceeds thereof should belong to Turner, Porter, Haskell and Eaton."

It is further alleged that the parties in whose names the lots were scheduled "permitted themselves to be used as mere dummies in the scheme of defrauding the Creek nation."

CAPTAIN QUALTROUGH NOT DRUNK, HE SAYS

Ascribes His Alleged Condition to Strong Cigar.

Gibraltar, Feb. 4.—All the evidence in the court martial of Captain Edward F. Qualtrough of the battleship Georgia on charges preferred by Rear Admiral Wainwright that he was under the influence of intoxicants at a reception given at Tangier by the American minister, Samuel R. Gummere, has been presented. The hearing in the case was held on the battleship Louisiana and a number of witnesses testified that Captain Qualtrough was intoxicated and unfit for duty. The accused officer, who took the stand in his own behalf, made a lengthy statement to the effect that he was sick and suffering greatly from fatigue and that he had only taken one glass of sherry and nothing afterward. He had smoked a strong cigar.

Surgeon Crandall of the Georgia, one of the two witnesses for the defense, testified that Captain Qualtrough's physical condition was low and that he therefore was very susceptible to the action of liquor and tobacco. The defense introduced as evidence the record of Captain Qualtrough's thirty-eight years of service and two flattering letters of recommendation received by him during the present cruise. The pleading is in progress today, but the decision will not be officially given out until it is finally approved. In the meantime Captain Qualtrough will remain aboard the Georgia under arrest, not being allowed either on the bridge or the quarter-deck.

AMUSEMENTS

So far as is known, the only instance in stage history of a dumb animal being on a theatrical payroll is in the Richard Carle company, Aphrodite, the little white Maltese poodle that will "play a part" in "Mary's Lamb" at the Auditorium in Connersville next Monday night is a paid member of the cast and draws her salary every Tuesday.

Miss Julia Ralph is responsible for the fluffy little canine's financial prosperity. Aphrodite appears frequently with Miss Ralph during this play and a great friendship has sprung up between the actress and the tiny dog. It will in all seriousness that Miss Ralph told Mr. Carle she thought Aphrodite ought to get a salary. She said the dog was always "on the job," played her part perfectly and had never missed a rehearsal. Mr. Carle took it as a joke, but asked Miss Ralph how much she thought Aphrodite ought to be paid. Miss Ralph had it all figured out that Aphrodite could live like a star boarder for fifty cents a day.

"All right," said Mr. Carle, "I'm game. On the payroll she goes at $3.50 a week."

So next Tuesday Aphrodite drew her first week's salary. This means two lamb chops, cereals and milk every day for the canine actress. Miss Ralph accepted the dual position of guardian of Aphrodite and auditors of her accounts, and Edward T. Clancey, who sells song books, is the caterer.

Many Rushville people will see the Carle show.

Everybody in town that saw Kinzo, the Japanese juggler and skater at the Kramer rink last night declared that he is the best ever. He will be at the rink again tonight and Friday and Saturday nights. Kinzo puts on his act at nine o'clock.

The bill at the Grand last night pleased large audiences at all of the shows. "The Clubman and the Tramp" is a comic subject in the extreme and will be shown again tonight. Miss Iva Brown will sing "Heart of my Heart."

At the Vaude tonight a funny film, "The Donkey Skin" will be shown. The illustrated song, "I'm Awfully Strong for You," made a hit last night and will be repeated tonight. The large phonograph which has been broken will be repaired tomorrow.

A very rare opportunity to see a high class show, one that has the plaudits of New York City and Chicago this season, right at our very door, but such is the case next Monday evening when Richard Carle will appear with his own original cast at the Auditorium in Connersville. The show is a musical comedy called "Mary's Lamb" and is considered one of the best offerings of the season. Carle played at the English theater in Indianapolis this season and goes there for a return engagement, something way out of the ordinary in theatrical circles. Seats will be placed on sale tomorrow and can be purchased here at the local I. & C. station.
